Color Settling Explained

At Kingston Supply, every fence is crafted to maintain its refined look year after year. Our composite materials are designed with premium UV protection and engineered pigments to resist fading. However, as with any natural-looking finish, a slight “settling” of color may occur within the first year—this is completely normal and part of the material’s natural stabilization process.

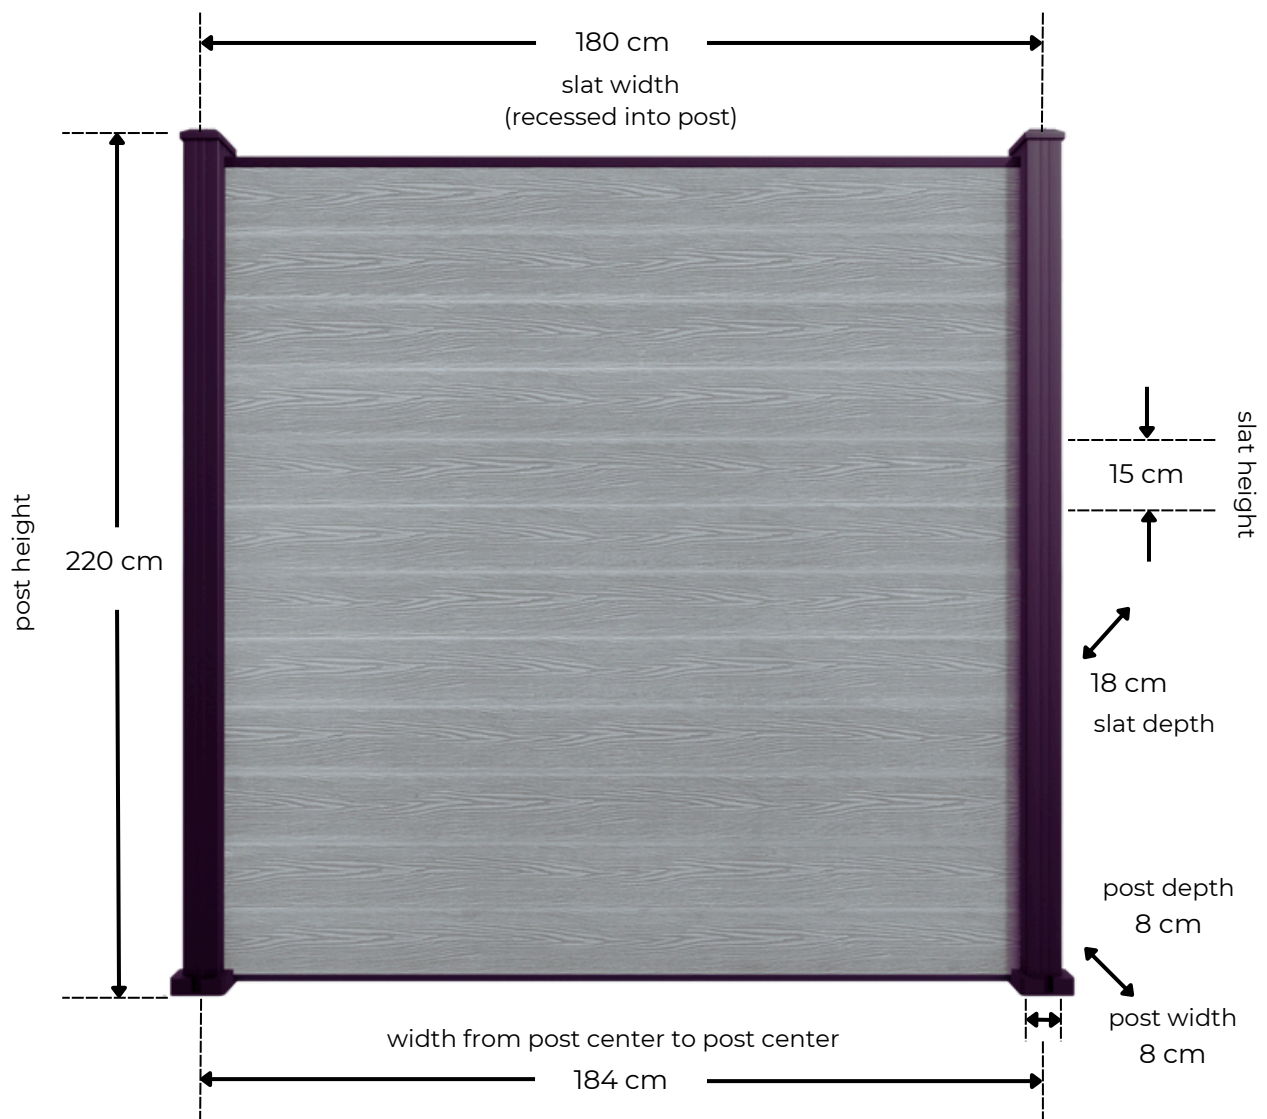

In most cases it’s minor and stabilizes quickly. We build in extra UV protection and monitor performance to keep your fence looking its best for years.

Can your aluminum post be sunk into the ground?

Our posts can be securely anchored in the ground. For posts between 40cm and 130cm tall, we suggest embedding them 30cm deep. For larger posts—that are 160cm to 220cm tall—we recommend setting them 60cm into the ground.

Can your posts be fitted above ground?

Our aluminium and composite posts can be installed on any sturdy surface, and every order between 40cm and 220cm includes all the necessary fixings.

What are the product dimensions?

- Our Classic Slat Pack contains 2 fence slats. Each slat measures 180cm (Length) x 15cm (Height) x 18mm (Thickness).
- Top and bottom slat capping: 180cm (Length)
- Post height available: 40cm to 220cm
- Fence posts: 8cm x 8cm

Slats and screens slot into post recesses up to 20mm—resulting in an approximate centre-to-centre post distance of 184cm after the fence panel is installed.

Do I need to order an additional post to finish the run of fencing?

No, the end post is already included in the price. On your order summary, it will appear as "Additional end post."

Can I use the post on corners?

Our aluminium posts have slots on each side, making them suitable for both straight runs and corners. We also supply blanking strips for any unused channels.

Is composite fencing eco-friendly?

Composite fencing is made from recycled timber and plastic (along with other components)—each slat uses the equivalent of 80 large plastic bottles, preventing waste from reaching oceans or landfills.

It's a sustainable alternative to wood, which requires frequent replacement, harvesting, and chemical treatments that can leach into the soil.
